SUPPLEMENTAL QUESTIONNAIRE

Why do you want to serve on the Youth Commission? Why do you believe the Youth Commission is important?

I want to serve on the Youth Commission to drive meaningful changes in the education sector that directly benefit our peers. My goal is to advocate for increased funding for educational programs, ensure that youth voices are represented in educational decisions, and promote more STEM opportunities that align with the growing demand for these skills in the workforce. One of my key objectives is to address disparities in education funding and access, particularly in our local schools compared to other cities. By working to bridge the gap in admission rates and educational resources, we can create a more equitable system that supports all students effectively. I believe that fostering more STEM programs will prepare students for future careers and ignite their interest in these critical fields. Youth commission is instrumental in making these changes because it provides a platform to address such issues and ensure that the perspectives of the students are in the process.

The Youth Commission addresses issues affecting youth and the community through making recommendations to City Council. Please explain what you believe is the biggest issue concerning youth in South San Francisco today.

One of the biggest issues facing youth today is mental health. The increasing prevalence of anxiety, depression, and other mental health concerns among young people is a significant challenge. Factors contributing to this crisis include academic pressure, social media impact, lack of access to mental health resources, and the ongoing effects of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The Youth Commission can address this issue by recommending increased funding for mental health services in schools, promoting awareness and education about mental health, and developing programs that provide support and counseling for students. These measures can help create a more supportive environment and improve the overall well-being of young people in the community.
