WHEREAS, the California Constitution grants cities important powers, including the authority to promote and regulate public safety, raise revenue for public purposes, and operate public works to furnish residents with light, water, power, heat, transportation, and communication; and

WHEREAS, cities provide millions of Californians with essential services, including but not limited to public libraries, fire protection, law enforcement, emergency medical and disaster response, parks and recreation, childcare, community and human services, solid waste and recycling management, water and sewer services, utilities, land use planning, housing, economic development, transportation planning, street and road maintenance, and telecommunications; and
